

University of New Mexico - Taos

Associate of Arts in Communication and Journalism

The Associate of Arts in Communication & Journalism is a degree program designed for students who wish to have marketable skills for the job market in a variety of areas: advertising, public relations, print or broadcast journalism, organizational communication, and others. The program is designed so that the student can earn a Minor in Communication as well as the AA in Communication and Journalism. It will also provide the basis for a major in Communication and Journalism or Mass Communication in a B.A. program. UNM-Taos reserves the right to make necessary changes as needed.
