

University of New Mexico - Taos Associate of Arts in Southwest Studies

The Associate of Arts in Southwest Studies is an interdisciplinary program dealing with topics related to the American Southwest and United States-Mexico border regions. The course offerings include studies in history, culture, social problems, and environmental issues and encompass a broad intellectual perspective. An A.A. in Southwest Studies satisfies the general education requirements of UNM Albuquerque and other four-year institutions. It prepares students to transfer into B.A. programs in American Studies, Native American Studies, Chicano Studies, American History, American Literature, Sociology and Anthropology. It can also provide regional perspective for a variety of human resource management and other professionals. UNM-Taos reserves the right to make necessary changes as needed.
